The Scarp Battery

Project

Because of their unique aspects, The works of the Wall belt situated in the left Adige part, starting from the Scaliger time, then Veneto and finally Hasburg can be observed for their historical, artistic but also technical aspects.

We can see at the same time, the necessity to provide to the systematic conservation, because, evidently, there has been a lack of maintenance and sadly haven't been missed the damaged, often irreversible because of continuous acts of vandalism.

The Scarp Battery and the Round bastion of San Zeno in Monte, made by the great architect Franz Von Scholl, are part of the eighteenth century fortification insert in the hill part of the Cangrande's Wall that are a very good example of the general status of the hill's belt for the multiple technical and problematical aspects of the conservative project. Between them, for the emergency of the status, has been decided a restoration of the roofing of the Battery.

The association "Comitato per il Verde" has asked and obtained from the States the property of the fortification, and this has allowed us to benefit from a contribution of 80.000 Euros from the "Fondation Cassa di Risparmio", that will be spend entirely for the restoration of the roofing.

To give full access however to the structure and to consent a use that will induce visit in order to admire it for its great constructive qualities, there is a need to complete the restoration with the arrangement of the internal spaces (pavements, electrical, ....)

The project, approved by the "Soprintendenza" has been edited by the architect Lino Vittorio Bozzetto, who has a profound knowledge of the fortifications and History of Verona.

With the present project of the restoration of the Scarp Battery, the association Comitato per il Verde is facing an important responsibility to give back to the city one of the most original fortification where are fusing the technical and artistic medieval talents of the fortification of Cangrande the first, with the talent of the most illustrate military architect of the Hasburg Franz Von Scholl. Once completed the restoration, the Scarp Battery will become the location of the museum of the Fortification of Verona and of the Park of the Walls, open to anybody interested.

The restoration will be dedicated to the memory of Carlo Furlan, passed away recently, that for years had been working for the salvage of the Park of the Wall.
